Union Home Minister Amit Shah presented the prestigious President’s Police Colour to the Arunachal Pradesh Police in recognition of its distinguished service to the nation. With this honour, it became the 70th police force in India to receive the recognition.

The award is among the highest distinctions conferred upon a police organisation for professionalism, dedication, operational excellence and contributions to maintaining law and order and protecting public safety.

APSC Relevance: Police Administration, Internal Security