

AI palletising and depalletising uses robotic arms, computer vision, and artificial intelligence to automatically stack and unload goods from pallets. It improves efficiency, accuracy, and safety in warehouses and manufacturing units.

Unlike conventional robots, AI-enabled systems can adapt to mixed box sizes, irregular packaging, and damaged cartons without manual reprogramming.

APSC Relevance: Science & Technology; Economy.