- Haruki Murakami has released The Tale of KAHO, his first full-length novel centred on a lone woman protagonist. The book’s release drew enthusiastic crowds to bookstores across Japan, with readers gathering for midnight launch events.
- Murakami is internationally acclaimed for blending magical realism, surrealism, and psychological depth in his fiction.
- The novel marks a significant milestone in his literary career by presenting a sustained narrative from a female-centred perspective.

APSC Relevance: World Literature; Contemporary Authors